CARRANZA'S EXPULSION OF SPANISH MINISTER AROUSES DIPLOMATS

Mexican First Chief Cites Precedents for His Act, but Fear Felt for Results.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12.—Administration officials and diplomats awaited to-day developments they feared might follow Gen. Carranza's expulsion of the Spanish Minister, Jose Caro, from Mexico. The Minister was believed to be on his way to Vera Cruz, after having been ordered to leave for the alleged harboring of Angel de Caceres, a Spanish subject, accused of aiding Gen. Villa.

The American battleship Delaware at Vera Cruz had been ordered to take the Minister on board for protection. Diplomats here suggested the incident might bring serious complications, since the right of asylum to a national of a foreign government is a long established rule. Spanish Ambassador Riano here is silent pending advice from his government.

Secretary Daniels received a wireless to-day from the captain of the Delaware, saying the Spanish Minister had not arrived at Vera Cruz at the time of its despatch. The Carranza agency here issued a statement justifying Carranza's action, and recalling President Cleveland's dismissal of Lord Stockwell-West, the British Ambassador; the Spanish Governor's dismissal of the British Minister during the Premiership of Lord Palmerston; and the Venezuelan Government's dismissal of the Ministers from Belgium and France in 1895.

MAGOWAN SUE FOR DIVORCE

Ex-Mayor of Trenton Figures in New Phase of Striking Career.

TRENTON, N. J., Feb. 12.—Another phase in the spectacular career of Frank A. Magowan, ex-Mayor of Trenton and nationally known as a rubber financier, appeared in the Court of Chancery here to-day, when he was sued for divorce on the grounds of desertion by Mary E. Magowan, a resident of Trenton and employed in the State House. The filing of the petition came just one week after the release of the ex-Mayor from the New Jersey State Hospital for the insane here, where he was under treatment following his discharge from a sanitarium in Bergen County. He is now believed to be in New York.

Is Found Dead in Elevator.
Persons attending a meeting in the Labor Temple, No. 34 East Eighty-fourth Street, could get no response when they rang for the elevator at 1:30 A. M. to-day. A special officer went to the ground floor and found the elevator operator, Jacob Metzger, thirty-five, No. 1828 First Avenue, dead on the floor of the car from heart failure.

THREE MEN PINIONED BENEATH MOTOR CAR

Machine Turns Turtle in Broadway After Hitting Bakery Wagon.

Three men were pinioned under an automobile that turned turtle after hitting a bakery wagon at Broadway and Sixty-third Street at 4 o'clock this morning. None of the three received hurts more serious than bruises and contusions.

The automobile, which was wrecked, was owned and driven by a man who said he was Walter Shanahan of No. 138 West Sixty-eighth Street. With Shanahan were a man who said he was Joseph Mackrell of No. 484 West Fifty-seventh Street, and another whose name the police did not learn.

William Sampson, driving a Cushman bread wagon, was eastbound in Sixty-third Street. As he started across Broadway the Shanahan automobile loomed up and in trying to turn out of the way quickly, Sampson caused his horse to stumble and fall. Then the automobile hit the wagon, bounded to the curb and turned over.

NO INQUIRY LIKELY INTO CITY FINANCES

Legislative Leaders in Both Parties Opposed to Interference in That Matter.

ALBANY, Feb. 12.—A legislative investigation of New York City's finances is not likely. Republican Senate Leader Brown said to-day that too much importance had been attached to his comments upon the city's financial status. He thought the city authorities should handle the financial problem without interference.

Republican Assembly Leader Elman and Speaker Sweet intimated that they had never taken seriously the proposal to send a committee to New York. Mr. Himmelman said if the city authorities should ask the Legislature to repeal certain laws making mandatory appropriations, in order to permit the Estimate Board to deal with these matters itself, the Legislature would undoubtedly co-operate. Mr. Sweet said emphatically that unless better reasons could be advanced for an investigation he would oppose one.

AMERICAN CENTENNIALS BURIED WITH HONORS IN LONDON

LONDON, Feb. 12.—Edward Monroe, aged one hundred and six years, said to be the oldest veteran of the American Civil War, was buried in London to-day. The American Embassy and the consulate were represented at Mr. Monroe's funeral, which was held under the direction of the London branch of the Civil War Veterans.

TEACHING ALIENS ON ISLAND.

Children and Adults Held Up by War Are Learning English.

Miss Lott, a public school teacher, began teaching English to a class of alien children on Ellis Island yesterday. There are twenty-five children in the class, which is instructed in a room set apart in the administration building by Immigration Commissioner Howe.

The adults go to school in the afternoon. Desks and books have been provided by the Board of Education. This is the first time Uncle Sam has ever taught his temporary wards anything, for these pupils are not immigrants. They are "deports," whose homes are in belligerent countries, whither they cannot be returned until after the war.
